WHAT'S THIS ALL ABOUT?

I design brands and the products they live inside. Those are usually two jobs and two people, and doing both is the point. Fifteen years across a music library of nearly a million tracks, a dog breeder marketplace, a real estate brokerage and a care platform for senior living, alongside album covers, packaging and murals. The work underneath is the same each time: figure out what the company actually is, find the story that makes someone believe it, then build the thing that carries it. Screens are a commodity now, generated on demand. Knowing what to say, and when someone is ready to hear it, is not. Based in Los Angeles, working across the US and Europe.

EMPLOYMENT

Head of Design, Lightdrop

2019 – Present

- In charge of branding, design and website build for every client the growth agency takes on. Philips, Universal Music Group, Skyryse and F45 among them
- Built Lightdrop's own brand and site. For an agency selling brand work, its own identity is the proof, not the marketing. No one hands over theirs until yours has convinced them

Head of Product & Art Director, TellTail

2023 – 2026

- Owned product design, the design system and the brand for a two-sided marketplace with its own payments layer
- Designed verification, masked contact details and same-day payouts so that staying on the platform beat settling in cash, aligning the mechanism protecting revenue with the one protecting the buyer
- Company acquired

Co-founder & Head of Product, Felix Homes

2017 – 2024

- Co-founded a technology-first real estate brokerage built to break the 6% commission. Owned brand, marketing site and the transaction product
- Made a discount brokerage feel safer than the full-price incumbent rather than cheaper, carrying trust on third-party proof instead of institutional polish
- 300 transactions closed, funded, with press coverage

Product Designer & Marketing, APM Music

2020 – 2023

- Search and discovery for a production music library of nearly one million tracks
- Marketing design across campaigns and collateral

Independent Product & Brand Designer

2011 – Present

- Fifteen years of direct client work internationally, from seed-stage startups to established brands and cultural institutions
- Brand identity and art direction, marketing sites, packaging and print, and product UI/UX
- Usually the only designer in the room, carrying a project from positioning through to the shipped interface
